COMMUNITY PICNIC PLANS OUTLINED AT GATHERING

All Glendale and Folk From Neighboring Communities Gather on August 16

"Everyone in Glendale, not just the merchants, is invited to the city picnic to be held Wednesday, August 16, in Glendale's new park," says Frank H. Pilling, secretary of the Glendale Merchants' Credit association.

It is Mr. Pilling's desire to correct the false impression which some residents have gained that this picnic is just for the merchants and other business men of the city. It is a celebration picnic for every citizen of Glendale, he states, and all organizations in the city are urged to co-operate to make it a complete success.

At a meeting yesterday noon of the association, a motion was carried providing that persons living in Eagle Rock, Burbank and other adjoining cities should be invited to celebrate with Glendale. It was also decided to invite the co-operation of all clubs, churches and other organizations in the city.

Those attending the picnic are to bring their lunches, it is announced, and for those who do not wish to do so, concessions on the grounds will provide refreshments.

Billboard Discussion

At a meeting of the association yesterday, A. Edwards, a representative of the Foster & Kleiser advertising company of Los Angeles, addressed the members on the subject of billboards in Glendale. He spoke of billboard advertising and what the thought is needed in Glendale in the way of ordinances regulating the boards.

After his talk several members gave their views on the question, and it seemed to be the general consensus of opinion that an ordinance restricting the large boards was desirable, and that a controversy between advertising interests was to be avoided.

On Wednesday night, August 9, at 6:30 o'clock the losers of the present membership campaign are to treat the winners to a banquet in the Chamber of Commerce hall, and was decided at the meeting. Two weeks ago the association was divided into two groups under the leadership of W. P. Potter and H. M. Butts, and it was planned that the group which got the smaller number of new members should give a dinner for the others. Mr. Butt's side won, with about thirty members, and Mr. Potter's team is to furnish the meal. Ole Andresen was named chairman of the entertainment committee for the evening.

Picnic Committees

Committees have been named to handle the different features of the community picnic August 16. William Hunter of the Glendale Paint and Paper company is in charge of the concessions. C. J. Hall, local dealer, is chairman of the stunts committee. Ed Nisle, Packer, is head of the program committee, while T. L. Totman, manager of Chaffee's store, is in charge of the badges. Don Webb of the Glendale Hardware company will manage the dancing, and A. DeWaard of the city forces will prepare the grounds.

"It the people of Glendale will and the community picnic en is the hope of those who co-operating in the staging of monster "family picnic" for August 16. The entire affair will be under supervision of the city officials, it is announced. It is officials, it is announced. It is the people of Glendale.

FOUR BUNGALOWS TO BE ERECTED FOR SCHOOLS

Grammar Board Meets To-Night to Award Contracts for Proposed Buildings

Bids for the construction of four one-room bungalows are expected to be awarded tonight by the grammar school board of trustees.

Following an investigation, David Black, business agent for the school system, came to the conclusion that the board could save from $100 to $150 on the price of each bungalow by having the work done by contract labor and supervising the job as it went along.

Mark Keppel, county superintendent of schools, interprets the state law to mean that a school board has no right to erect new buildings under its own direct supervision and that contracts must be awarded in each case to regular contractors. He said that he would be compelled to refuse to approve any bills for labor or material submitted.

For this reason the local board of trustees has found it necessary to advertise for bids in the regular way.

Location of Buildings

One of the bungalows is to be put on the Broadway school grounds and will house the kindergarten which is now occupying one of the rooms of the main building.

Another one will be occupied by the sixth grade at the Doran school.

The third will be used for one of the upper grades at the Colorado school.

Manual training equipment will be placed in the fourth bungalow which will be located on the Central school grounds.

The specifications call for interior dimensions 24 by 36 feet in size. The interior finish is to be as simple as possible in order to reduce the cast.

Mr. and Mrs. Torrey Are Back From East

Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Torrey of 810 East Harvard street have returned from a three months' trip east, during which they visited friends and relatives in Flint and Detroit, Michigan, Kansas City, Denver and Salt Lake City. Accompanying them east and returning with them was their grandson, Charles Chitry of Glendale, who stopped at Denver for a three-months' visit with his mother.

Mr. Torrey states that business seems to be picking up in the east. He says that the Chevrolet factory at Flint is running full blast now and the Buick agency four days a week.

"Prices of foodstuffs were cheaper in Denver than any other place we visited. We encountered thunder storms in Kansas, heat in Denver and cold in Wyoming. There were only two hot days during our stay in Michigan. On July 4 we had to build a coal fire to keep warm. Our trip was made by way of the Union Pacific," Mr. Torrey said.

New Hotel Project Is Ready for Escrow

Funds for the construction of the new hotel are scheduled to go into escrow this afternoon at the Glendale Branch of the Los Angeles Trust & Savings bank.

This action was postponed yesterday because a search of the title of the property had not been completed yesterday in the county recorder's office.

C. W. Ingleblue of 632 East Broadway, J. L. S. Perch of 723 East Broadway and A. L. Baird of 130 South Brand boulevard went to the city this morning to collect some subscriptions from property owners who are residents of Los Angeles.

Mrs. Mabel L. Tight of 612 East Broadway reported this morning that the local committee had not quite succeeded in raising the $75,000 required. She was confident, however, that the balance necessary would be raised.

Hist! What's This! Bank Bandits? No, Only Phone Bzzz!

The First Savings Bank at 104 East Broadway was broken into last night—by two policemen and the janitor.

While "beating it up the alley" on his beat about 3:20 o'clock this morning Officer B. H. Conner heard a suspicious noise—bzzzzz—from the interior of the bank in the vicinity of the safe.

"Sounds line an electric drill," says he to himself.

Officer A. Kerns was summoned. He also heard the mysterious noise. However, all doors to the institution were securely locked. Then Dan F. Dietrich of 432 Patterson avenue was called. He brought down the door keys.

Noiselessly the lock was unlocked, the door was quietly opened and the trio tip-toed in.

The mysterious buzzing came from the telephone board which had not been properly "put to sleep" for the night.

New Proceedings on Patterson Proposed

The meeting of residents along Patterson avenue tonight at the Columbus school was commented upon this morning by City Manager W. H. Reeves. He called attention to the fact that the council has acceded to the wishes of the protestants and abandoned proceedings as formerly outlined and added that the "meeting must have been called under misapprehension."

New proceedings are to be started at once. These will provide for the widening of the street by the elimination of the parkways. Mr. Reeves is of the opinion that this is what the property owners desired. He emphasized the importantce of Patterson avenue in the city plan.

V. D. Stone, assistant city engineer, will be present at tonight's meeting to answer any questions.

Goldfish Give Way to City Fire Fighters

Firemen at Station No. 1 are again enjoying the pleasure of bathing alone in the station bath tub, a privilege they have been denied for several days.

About a week ago between thirty and forty goldfish were added to the station's aquarium. The two fish bowls were too small, so the husky newcomers were put in the bath tub.

Last Friday Assistant Chief Ed Fairfield and some of the boys built a stone and concrete fish pond in the rear of the station. After this had set for a couple of days and the water cleared, it was pronounced ready for occupancy.

So the fish were removed from the bathroom and again the valiant firefighters disport themselves in the brimful tub.

Irish Rebels Kill Two In Train Attack

DUBLIN, July 25.—A train carrying rebel prisoners to Dublin was attacked from ambush in county Wexford today and two regular soldiers were killed. As the train was drawing into Harcourt station snipers fired upon it from roof tops. Two arrests were made.

A small detachment of regulars was landed from the free state "mosquito fleet" near Cork, giving battle to the rebels on the outskirts of the city.

The advance of the regulars through southern Ireland continues.

In view of the hostilities, the meeting of parliament which was to have been opened on Saturday, has been postponed indefinitely.

There was considerable firing in this city throughout the night.

The free state troops operating in the southwestern counties have occupied Claremorris.

All of the county Mayo has been cleared of irregulars. Irregular headquarters have now been established at Fermoy. The rebels are still concentrating in the region of Cork. It is expected that the final clash between the irregular and free state armies will be fought in that region.

A large taxicab company in Chicago has increased the wages of its chauffeurs $250,000 this year.

Government Plans to Ration Out Coal

WASHINGTON, July 25.—While reports from all parts of the country revealed today that the coal shortage is hourly becoming more acute, forcing the shutdown of industrial plants and endangering the continued operation of vital public utilities, the government proceeded rapidly with the assembly of a fuel rationing machine to meet the emergency.

When the cabinet met at the White House this morning it had before it a fairly definite plan to put the country on a strict ration basis, comparable only to the rationing that existed during the war.

The expectation prevailed that the cabinet would place its o. k. on the scheme and this appeal would be followed within 24 hours by a declaration from the interstate commerce commission that a grave public emergency exists.

With such a declaration by the commission, the nation will automatically go on a ration diet, with the interstate commerce commission in supreme command of the whole situation. Its powers are held to be broad enough to cope with any conditions that may arise.

The country is getting back to normal—which is shown by the fact that the word "normalcy" seldom appears any more.

Special Bargains Being Offered By Local Business Houses; Take the Children With You and Have Good Time, Is Invitation Extended

A merchandising event that will attract hundreds of surburban buyers from Burbank, Eagle Rock, La Crescenta, La Canada, Tujunga, Sunland and other nearby places—as well as all the shrewd shoppers of Glendale is Dollar Day, Thursday, July 27th, with three score or more of Glendale's merchants co-operating in making it a real day of bargains.

Glendale is rapidly becoming one of the best retail centers outside Los Angeles, hardly a day passing but what shoppers come to this city from Los Angeles, Hollywood, Pasadena and larger places, on account of the real values offered by local merchants.

The stores and stocks of Glendale merchants are increasing in size and magnitude so rapidly that the local business men have planned a series of bargain and trade-in-Glendale events that it may be forcibly advertised to the buying public that Glendale is a trading center second to none.

Thursday's Dollar Day will be a real carnival of buying. Costs in marking goods have been in many cases forgotten. Don't forget to bring the children as well as your friends to Glendale's shopping district Thursday, for there are bargains in which they are interested as well as souvenirs. And so many things are offered free in combination with dollar purchases that it will pay well to watch and see what every business man has to offer.

Side Talks by Ruth Cameron

DON'T HATE ME YET

It's not pleasant to know that there are people who are regarding one as a disobliging, hateful old thing, is it?

You wouldn't like to know that there were people who felt that way towards you through no real fault of yours, even if they were people you had never met and who had no particular effect on your life would you?

Well, neither do I.

And yet it is something I seem to be condemned to.

A New Enemy.

For every time I get a letter asking me to discuss some personal problem in this column which for one reason or another I would rather not write on, and I find that the writer says that he will eagerly watch the column for the article and then signs instead of his name "Interested Reader," or some similar nom de plume, I know I have made a new enemy.

Maybe sometimes we shall learn to use air waves such as those that make wireless possible to send messages direct from mind to mind.

When that day comes I shall hold the letter in my hand and wireless to my unknown correspondent this message "I cannot write about this in my column, but if you will send me your real name and address I will write you a personal letter." ("Silly," says my second thought, "why don't you wireless what you would say in that letter? Why, indeed?")

Your Name Is Safe

Yesterday I had a letter in which the correspondent asked me to use her personal problem as a topic for an article and at the same time asked me to regard everything she said as strictly confidential. I wonder how on earth she expected to recognize the article if I did not refer to anything she had written.

I can always be depended upon to keep people's secrets when they ask me to but I cannot at the same time discuss them in the column. Do not be afraid to sign your name. I will never use it in the column. I wouldn't be allowed to if I wanted to. And then if I do prefer to write you a personal letter I can do it.

And please sign it clearly if you do not want to be wrongly addressed. I am not anxious to misspell your name, but if you make i's and n's and r's that all look alike I probably shall. And if you sign simply Mary Wright without an explanatory Mrs. before it in parenthesis, do not blame me if I call you Miss even if you have been married 18 years. I wasn't invited to the wedding and all I know is that you are Mary Wright.

Give Me a Second Chance

As to addresses, please be explicit. City alone is likely to cause trouble. Write your full address and write it clearly. The Authorman is in possession of a manuscript from a girl who wants to write. She asks his advice. He is generous enough to be willing to give it, but there is no address on the letter and the only postmark is New York. He will be forced to make no answer and she will probably "get a hate" in place of the admiration she says she has for him.

So it goes. It isn't fair, is it? So please don't hate me until you have given me a second chance when there is any misunderstanding like this.

Tomorrow—Have a Bargain

Luncheon
Scalloped Salmon

Spoon Bread—Add two cups of white cornmeal gradually to two cups of rapidly boiling water. Let cool, then add two tablespoons melted butter, one and one-half teaspoons salt, yolks of two eggs, slightly beaten, one and one-half cups buttermilk, to which has been added one teaspoon soda; beat until perfectly smooth, then fold in the stiffly beaten whites of two eggs. Turn into a buttered pudding dish and bake in moderate oven 45 minutes, or until firm in center.

Scalloped Salmon—Into a buttered baking dish put alternate layers of flaked, canned salmon and bread crumbs, a little minced onion and a seasoning of salt and pepper. When dish is full, cover with bread crumbs and dot with bits of butter. Make a white sauce of one and one-half cups milk, one and one-half tablespoons each of butter and flour, and pour over the top. Cook twenty-five minutes in moderate oven.

Bran Muffins—Mix two cups of bran, one cup of flour, three teaspoons baking powder, one-half teaspoon salt and one-half teaspoon soda; add one-half cup of molasses, one and one-quarter cups milk and one well-beaten egg. Beat very hard, bake in gem pans in a moderate oven twenty-five to thirty minutes.

Appetizer—Spread rounds of bread, toasted on the under side, with a paste made of highly-seasoned American cheese, grated. On each, place two half strips of bacon and broil until the bacon curls and the cheese browns.

Braised Shoulder of Veal—Bone stuff, and sew in shape four pounds shoulder of veal. Fry out two slices of fat salt pork, and remove scraps. Sprinkle veal with salt and pepper, and dredge with flour and brown entire surface in pork fat. Place in aluminum or heavy iron pot and add two carrots, one-half green pepper, two small onions, cut into dice, one dozen peppercorns, one bay leaf, and three cups of boiling water. Cover closely and cook three and one-half hours in a slow oven, turning meat two or three times in the meantime. Serve with brown sauce made from liquor remaininy in the pot.

Pineapple, Celery Salad—Slice pineapple, sprinkle with juice of one-half lemon, cover with celery and diced fine and mixed with mayonnaise. Serve on lettuce and garnish with slice of ripe tomato.

Macaroon Pudding—Place one layer of macaroon in a buttered pudding dish, then a layer of fresh or canned peaches mashed to a pulp; seasoned with sugar and lemon juice. Repeat the layers until dish is full, last layer being fruit. Beat one egg until light, add two tablespoons sugar and one cup of milk. Pour over top, place in moderate oven and bake twenty minutes. Serve either hot or cold with cream sweetened and flavored.

SPIRITUALITY VS MATERIALITY

MY MOST EMBARRASING MOMENT

Many of the daily papers conduct a column called "My most embarrassing moment." Let us have some fun. There is no class of people who have more embarrassing moments than fat folks.

Send me a brief account of yours. Sign a pen name if you like. For a starter here is mine —(of course you have divined before this that one reason I know so much about this subject is because I have been a member of the f. f. myself):

Some years ago when I was about 50 pounds over-weight, and prided myself that because I was tall and well proportioned. I looked stately rather than fat. I was waiting on the third floor of an office building for the elevator to take me to the sixth floor.

I pressed the up button, and the car, which was rather full, stopped. No one got out and I got in. The operator shut the door and pushed the lever of the car. No response. Back and forth he pushed. Pushed he back and forth. Car did not quivver. Car did not quivver.

A fairly heavy, gracious gentleman said he would get out, and did so. Business of trying to get the car to go up again. But no results. Still another gracious gentleman volunteered to lighten the load, and he also got out. Did the car then go? It did not. By this time the occupants were smiling fully and beginning to give audible evidence of interested amusement. Blushing, but game, I said with a wan smile that I would get out.

The car shot up. To the accompaniment of imbecile laughter, if the loud laugh does bespeak the vacant mind.

It was embarrassing, rather! But it was invaluable. Stately? Hardly! I reduced.

It is highly important that while you diet to consume and desolve your fat, you exercise to give tone to and strengthen your flabby muscles, to better oxygenate and accelerate the blood so that it can wash out the tissues, to stimulate the internal secretions which have perhaps been under-active, to invigorate the central nervous system, and to help break down the fat.

I have said that very fully but not well. However, you get me? I mean that it is highly important to have some good vigorous exercise every day. Any system of reduction that does not build up the whole system and make one feel better while doing it, is not a good system.

The more you can exercise the better, but 10 to 15 minutes of systematic, vigorous exercise a day will do the work.

Any setting-up (the A. E. F. called them up-setting) exercises will do. The magazines and the daily papers frequently give good articles on exercising. Everyone knows what the setting-up exercises are. See your Doctor if you are very fat; perhaps you should not exercise too strenuously.

Begin gradually and increase your activity slowly, or you will suffer. Swimming is the best all-round exercise, but not all can avail themselves of that. Golf is excellent. Walking with a long, brisk stride is wonderfully good, but unfortunately a large number of over-weight people have serious trouble with their feet. Flat feet are not at all uncommon among them. I shall talk of the mechanical devices for reducing in the next article.

For your diet tomorrow, you may have 100 C more than you had yesterday. Add a slice of whole wheat bread to your evening meal. That gives you now 900 C.

Send in your most embarrassing moment!

Tomorrow—Mechanical Exercise.

BEAUTY CHATS

by EDNA KENT FORBES

ANSWERED LETTERS

Ill Luck—A mottled complexion indicates a disordered digestive system, especially a sluggish liver. Eat less meat and avail yourself of the benefits of this season derived from green vegetables and salads. A salad made from dandelion leaves equals any spring tonic that can be produced.

Brown Eyes—Your blackheads have not increased because of the cream you have used. You have not found their immediate cause so they continue. A hot bath all over every day will relieve the pores to such an extent the complexion will be cleared. If this is neglected and the complexion is only receiving its daily cleansing, the pores of the face will naturally be overtaxed and coarsen.

Curley—When hair falls out it is often due to a run down condition, but if your health is perfect and the hair falls, the scalp is in need of treatment. Massage daily and include with this a good hair tonic twice each week.

Delsa—The blood tonic made from sulphur and molasses can be taken any season if it is needed. No blood purifier should be taken at any season any longer than required. Agar agar is taken with the food as it is tasteless. It is usually sprinkled over the breakfast food. It will help your condition but it does not act as a physic. Never use either cocoa butter or lanoline on the face as you will be inviting a growth of fine hair. Build up the tissues by massaging with nourishing creams, which must contain the finest of oils and beeswax.

John J. B.—As you have cleared your system until all the pimples have disappeared, it is likely your skin will improve until all traces of these eruptions have gone. If you feel that you prefer to hasten this a healing lotion which has bleaching properties could be used on the face daily. An excellent thing for this is a "Cucumber Lotion." If you desire such a formula, I shall be glad to mail one on receipt of a stamped addressed envelope.

Blue Eyes—Peroxide and ammonia when used as a bleach for hair on the arms or legs should be of equal proportions.

M. H. L.—Boys and girls at your age are often troubled by skin eruptions which only denote a temporary condition. Do not over eat, and drink plenty of water. Form also the habit of a daily bath.

C. H.—An egg shampoo, which is also effective in removing dandruff from the scalp, is effected by first rubbing the yolk of the egg into the scalp. Allow this to remain on until it has thoroughly dried and adhered to the skin. Proceed then as in any ordinary shampoo, as the egg will dissolve and work into the warm, soapy water and all of it rinse out, leaving the scalp cleared of the dead particles of skin. This shampoo will also make the hair very soft and glossy.

Tomorrow—Summer Creams

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question—The Editor.

Makes Defense of Unions by Companies

NEW YORK, July 25.—Strikers' statements that the shopmen's walkout has tied up transportation here were repudiated, and the formation of "company" unions defended on the ground that it had been sanctioned by the railroad labor board, in a statement issued here by L. F. Loree, chairman of the East Railroad Presidents' conference. Loree's statement followed a conference attended by the heads of the principal big eastern roads having headquarters in New York City.

Norway has 12,000 automobiles, or one car for every 215 persons in the entire country.

Company Unions In West Is Probability

CHICAGO, July 25.—Western railroads, it is expected, today will follow the example of eastern lines and begin to organize "company unions" to replace the organizations of shopmen who are on strike. The movement for formation of "company unions" is believed to indicate that the roads are preparing for a prolonged fight and have no intention of yielding to the demands of the strikers.

Although no one in authority would comment upon that phase of the question, it was reported today that the resolution of the labor board "outlawing" the striking shopmen had arisen as one of the chief obstacles to settlement of the strike. It was contended unofficially in union circles that the railroads were taking advantage of the resolution as a means of eliminating the existing organizations and building up "company" bodies amenable to the desires of the management.

Bomb Exploded In Belfast; No Damage

BELFAST, July 25.—A bomb was exploded near the ministry of labor giving rise to reports that an attempt had been made to blow up the ministry because free state troops had arrested O. F. Ridgeway, organizer of the Irish transportation union. The transportation workers are threatening a general strike. The bomb did no damage.

More than 40,000 school children in Hawaii are enrolled in garden work as a result of the efforts of the United States department of agriculture.

Gov. Stephens Will Investigate Firing

SACRAMENTO, July 25.—Governor W. D. Stephens was expected upon his arrival here today to make a full investigation of reports from San Bernardino that a Santa Fe passenger train was fired upon by striking shopmen and that Deputy U. S. marshals had great difficulty in handling the situation.

According to reports telephoned to the governor's office a crowd of more than two hundred gathered at the depot there after repeated efforts had been made to stop the train and attempted to reach two coaches containing, it was said, a number of imported workmen. In the course of the confusion the shots are said to have been fired although no one was injured.

Russia to Resume Japanese Conference

TOKIO, July 25.—The Chita, or far eastern Russian republic, has agreed to re-open conferences with Japan looking toward a commercial treaty but no agreement has been reached yet on the place the parleys will be resumed. They were broken off at Darien some time ago. It was agreed to settle the Nikolaievsk question after a treaty has been completed. Commissar Joffe will represent the Russian soviet government at the conference.

A piano tuner at Wabash, Indiana, tuned a piano at South Bend, Indiana, sixty-five miles away, by telephone. The customer was told by the tuner how to change the tension as each note was sounded into the telephone.

U. S. Army Prepares for Any Emergency

WASHINGTON, July 25.—The United States army is prepared to meat any emergency, either from within or without the nation, under plans for the national defense worked out by the general staff, General John J. Pershing disclosed in a report to Secretary of War Weeks.

The "Pershing plan" is intended to be used in defending the United States against any attack while at the same time general mobilization of men and war materials is going on behind the first line. Pershing describes the scheme as a "national position in readiness."

"With eighteen divisions and appropriate auxiliaries of the national guard, supplemented by the regular army prepared for necessary expansion and with certain units formed in the organized reserves, we shall be able to cover our coast and land frontiers against serious invasion at the start," Pershing said. "Under this protection," he pointed out, "our fleet will be free to deal with the hostile naval forces without concern as to the possible invasion."

Every dollar paid into public treasury as taxes should be handled with the same business care and acumen that money is handled by a successful private concern.

When all nations get along as well as do the United States and Canada, there will be no need of heavy armaments on land and sea.

Goodrich
announces
new tire prices
—lowest cost mileage ever known

Effective July 20th, Goodrich establishes a revised price list that is a base line of tire value. It gives the motorist the buying advantage of knowing that whatever size tire he selects is of the same quality—the Goodrich one-quality standard. It gives him the longest mileage, the most satisfactory service and the highest quality his money can buy. Results will prove that it is impossible to buy tire mileage at lower cost.

Think of being able to buy

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— By Howard R. Garis —

UNCLE WIGGILY AND GRANDPA BULL

Uncle Wiggily was hopping one day near the duck pond ocean where Lulu, Alice and Jimmie Wibblewobble, the ducks, practiced their swimming lessons, when, all of a sudden, near a place where the tall cattail rushes grew, the bunny gentleman heard a loud splash in the water.

"Oh, my!" cried Mr. Longears, as he jumped aside to hide under a log. "That must be the Woozie Wolf or the Fuzzy Fox throwing stones at me! But that stone didn't hit me, for it fell into the water. However, I must be careful!"

Uncle Wiggily kept himself hidden under the friendly log and waited, thinking to hear more splashes in the water, which would tell of other stones being thrown at him. But he heard no splashes, and he saw neither the Woozie Wolf nor the Fuzzy Fox.

"I must have been mistaken," said Uncle Wiggily out loud.

"And Bully and Bawly No Tail will find out that they have been mistaken, also!" cried a loud voice not far away.

"My goodness! Who's that?" asked Uncle Wiggily, greatly surprised.

"Ha! Ha! Ha! Don't be afraid," went on the loud voice, quite a jolly one, by the way.

"But who are you?" asked the rabbit gentleman.

"I'm Grandpa Bull, the frog," was the answer. "I heard you coming and I thought you were

"Wonderful!" answered Uncle Wiggily

some boys getting ready to throw stones at me, so I plumped myself into the water."

"Oh, then it was you made the big splash!" asked Uncle Wiggily, coming out from beneath the log.

"I suppose so," croaked Grandpa Bull with a loud laugh. "I am getting quite fat, I dare say," and, indeed, as Uncle Wiggily looked at the old gentleman frog, the bunny thought he had never met with one so nearly a giant in size. He was almost as large as the largest pussy cat you ever saw.

"Well, I'm glad it was you, and not the Wolf or Fox," said Uncle Wiggly to Grandpa Bull, as the frog hopped up out of the water and the bunny sat on the log.

"And I'm glad you weren't a lot of boys coming to throw stones at me," rumbled Grandpa Bull.

"What was that you said about Bully and Bawly?" asked the bunny.

"Oh, these little rascals of boy frogs think they can sing as loudly as their grandfather!" laughed Mr. Bull. "The other day they were boasting how loudly they could croak. It isn't good for boy frogs to get too large an idea of themselves, so I told Bully and Bawly I would meet them here today and see who was the loudest croaker. Just wait until they hear me," said the old frog. "They'll wish they had never boasted. Once I croak my loudest—well, here's a sample, and puffing himself up, Grandpa Bull made the ground fairly tremble with his booming croak, and Uncle Wiggly must needs hold his paws over his ears so he wouldn't be made deaf.

"How's that?" asked Grandpa Bull.

"Wonderful!" answered Uncle Wiggily.

Then Uncle Wiggily hopped along to look for an adventure, for he thought to himself that he didn't want to be in the neighborhood when Grandpa Bull and the two boy frogs had their croaking race to see who could make the most noise.

The bunny gentleman hopped on and on, while Grandpa Bull sat on the shore of the duck pond ocean waiting for Bully and Bawly to come and try their voices against him.

As for the rabbit gentleman, he had not hopped very far, before he met Nannie Wagtail, the goat girl, and poor Nannie was in trouble, for she was carrying home a basket of groceries from the store, when the handle of the basket broke.

"Never mind," said Uncle Wiggily, kindly, "I'll gnaw you another handle from a piece of wild grape vine. There are many vines growing hereabout."

So the bunny gnawed a new handle for Nannie's basket, but sent her on her way home happy. Then, all of a sudden, as the bunny was twinkling his pink nose, the Fuzzy Fox leaped out from behind a briar bush and barked:

"Now for some good ear nibbles!"

"Not yet! You don't get my ears if I can help it!" cried the bunny. Anyway he hopped, faster and faster, but the bad Fox came on fast also. He was almost up to Uncle Wiggily and had stretched out his paw to get the bunny, when, all of a sudden, there was a loud thundering, booming, rumbling noise.

"Oh, my!" cried the Fox, stopping short. "That's thunder! There's going to be a thunder shower and I'll get my tail wet!" Then two more booming noises sounded, though not so loud as the first. "Oh, I must run home!" barked the Fox. "I don't want to get caught in the rain. I'll nibble your ears some other day, Uncle Wiggily."

"I hope not!" whispered Uncle Wiggily to himself. "And I guess I'd better hop home myself," he added. As he was running past the duck pond suddenly he heard the booming, thundering sound again and a voice said:

"There, Bully and Bawly, see if you can croak as loudly as that!"

"Boom! Boom!" sounded two lesser noises and then a voice said: "No use, Grandpa Bull. You were right. We aren't big enough yet to beat you croaking."

"Ha! Ha!" laughed the bunny, as he saw the three frogs. "It wasn't thunder after all that scared the Fox. It was only Grandpa Bull and the frog boys. Now I can stay and have some fun with them," and he did.

So the Fox had no ear nibbles that day. But if the ice pick doesn't try to crawl in the bottom part of the refrigerator and take the milk out to the moving pictures, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the lemonade stand.

They Say That

"Daylight saving" variations from standard time are not nearly so bad as the confusion of times which existed fifty years ago, according to L. F. Loree, president of the Delaware & Hudson railroad.

Railroads of this country had about seventy different standard times back in 1870. By 1880 the number was reduced to fifty-three, yet these intersected and interlocked each other and were an abomination and a nuisance governed by no principle which would enable a person familiar with one locality to judge them in another, he said.

When the present standard time system was put into effect, Nov. 18, 1883, not only did the 113,000 miles of railroad line have to be brought into uniformity, but all the many communities had to be persuaded to change their clocks.

It was recognized that this improved condition required a time that would be both uniform and accurate, and recourse was had to the United States Naval Observatory at Washington. Standard clocks kept in conformity with this transmitted time were placed at division headquarters, but an allowance of five minutes had to be made for the variations in individual watches. This regulation was later done away with and a rigid inspection of watches was started, but these changes were not accomplished without much friction.

"When, during the World War, throughout the United States, and since in restricted localities, 'daylight saving' time was used in summer," Mr. Loree explained, "no one thought it possible to change the clocks except for a full hour difference with its relation to standard time well defined."

GRID CONDENSER AND STABILIZER IN THE RADIO Frequency Amplifier Circuit.

No matter what the form of radio frequency amplifier coupling, the potential variations applied to the grids of successive tubes must be applied through grid condensers, in order that the high voltages of the plate batteries be kept off the grids. This means that the grid condenser is called upon to pass radio frequency, or become charged and discharged at high rate, without occasioning any more loss than possible. A grid leak resistance must be used and is connected between the grid and the negative end of the filament rather than directly across the grid condenser. Otherwise, the potential applied to the grid might well be so high as to cause large damping of the applied grid potential variations and consequent weaker signals in the head telephone receivers of the final circuit. When the amplifier is to be used on the short waves common in broadcasted telephone programs the capacity of the grid condenser must be small, so that its reactance (capacitive reactance) is low compared with the grid leak resistance. The lower the value of this resistance and the shorter the wave length the smaller the capacity of the grid condenser must be.

The use of a grid condenser and grid leak gives some rectification of the oscillations, particularly when they are strong. This is an advantage rather than the reverse, however, since local noises are suppressed, as well as static, to some extent. There is also a limiting effect upon very strong signals since they are not amplified in as great proportion as the weaker signals.

Radio frequency amplifier circuits are quite often prone to produce howling noises, which are the result of oscillations generated somewhere in the circuits. If the grid circuits of the tubes are made slightly conductive, so that grid currents of very small value flow under operating conditions, the tendency to oscillate is greatly decreased. A very close variation of normal grid potential may be had by shunting the resistance element of a potentiometer across the filament lighting battery and connecting the sliding contact to the grid circuits. This method is shown in the diagram accompanying the previous article. When the sliding contact is adjusted to place a small positive potential on the grids the above provision for reducing the tendency to oscillate is accomplished. The plate potential and filament current may be first adjusted and the circuits "stabilized" by adjusting the potentiometer.

White Core in Ice Block Explained

"Why is it that each 300-pound block of manufactured ice shows a white core or center?"

This question is often asked by ice consumers—and seldom answered.

According to ice experts this white core does not imply any lack of purity; it merely indicates the presence of air in the ice.

When the cans, prepared for freezing, are lowered to their compartments in the brine tank an air pipe is inserted. This pipe is connected with a blower, the function of which is to keep the water agitated, thus expelling the air in the water during the freezing period.

Water devoid of air freezes clear. When the block of ice is partly frozen the air pipe is withdrawn from the can, the water in the center of the block about the air pipe is pumped out, fresh water is poured in, and the freezing completed.

Thus, the white core simply means that that portion of the block in hardening has not been freed from air.

With the processes now in vogue in all raw water ice plants the last vestige of impurity is removed before the water reaches the freezing cans.

Call Contracts to Be Null on Notice

USE SULPHUR TO HEAL YOUR SKIN

Broken Out Skin and Itching Eczema Helped Over Night

For unsightly skin eruptions, rash or blotches on face, neck, arms or body, you do not have to wait for relief from torture or embarrassment, declares a noted skin specialist. Apply a little Mentho-Sulphur and improvement shows next day.

Because of its germ destroying properties, nothing has ever been found to take the place of this sulphur preparation. The moment you apply it healing begins. Only those who have had unsightly skin troubles can know the delight this Mentho-Sulphur brings. Even fiery, itching eczema is dried right up.

Get a small jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist and use it like cold cream.—Advertisement.

THEY TOLD HIM

A man "butted in" at a waiting line before the railroad ticket window and the men who were in a hurry glowered.

"I want a ticket for San Diego," said the man, and he put 50 cents under the wicket.

"You can't go to San Diego for 50 cents," returned the ticket seller.

"Well, then, where can I go for fifty cents?"

And each of the fourteen men in that waiting line told him where he could go.

NEW ADJUSTABLE RADIO B BATTERY

A new type of radio B battery has made its appearance. It is of the new no acid, no glass, no wooden separators type and is free from fumes of any kind. A new compound furnishes the current producing element, and each cell is removable. The units are circular and fit in a stand held together by four rods. Adjustable connections give variable adjustments for different potentials. The complete unit is very compact and presents a neat appearance. The manufacturers claim an extremely long life for this battery, which should be of great interest to the users of the dry cell type. In addition the claim is put forth that the cells operate noiselessly, eliminating the hissing and frying sounds that high amplification sometimes brings forth on the older types of B batteries. The unit has been designed for the layman, as well as the laboratory, and comes at a happy time to the consumer in general.

Girl In Whitney Case Covers Tracks

LOS ANGELES, July 25.—Mystery continued today to shroud the "movements" of pretty Evan Burrows Fontaine, Oriental dancer whose tangled love affair with Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney, son of Harry Payne Whitney, the wealthy sportsman, has resulted in the filing of two suits in New York for alleged breach of promise and the paternity of Miss Fontaine's 19-months-old baby boy whom she calls Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney, Jr., or "Sonny."

Although there is no definite proof there is an abundance of circumstantial evidence to believe Miss Fontaine has seen young Whitney within the past 24 hours.

Officer Stages Comic Supplement Scene

NEW YORK, July 25.—Patrolman August Grom of Brooklyn emulated the comic supplement in a vigorous engagement with an irate billy goat at Roebling and Grand streets. The goat "started something" when he tried to "kid" the officer, who was regulating traffic, by walking out in the middle of the street. Grom promptly hit the goat on the head with his "billy" and the battle was on.

It ended when the goat butted the officer in the mid-section with much force and rare precision. Three other officers hurried to the scene, roped the animal and picked Grom out of the gutter.

Good old-fashioned Iced Tea!

Recipe

Brew your favorite tea in the usual manner, but do not allow it to cool before being iced, as this imparts a slightly bitter taste to the tea.

The hot tea should be poured over ice, chilling it rapidly. Add sugar if desired, and when thoroughly chilled add a dash of lemon juice. A quarter of a lemon will flavor a large glass.

Do you know anything more refreshing on a hot day—more satisfying, more thirst-quenching, than a tall, thin glass of thoroughly chilled Iced Tea, with a liberal dash of lemon and sugared to suit your taste?

It's a healthful, inexpensive drink, but it's only one of many delightful hot-weather palate-ticklers you can always have when you keep a liberal supply of ice in the home.

A well-filled ice-box every day in the year prevents food waste and safeguards health. Without ice, even if food doesn't spoil, it loses its crisp, fresh flavor and most of its nutritive value.

Keep your ice-box always filled.

BOARD'S VERDICT GIVEN IN FAVOR OF FIGHTER

Johnny Wilson Is Permitted to Box Again; Notes on Baseball, Tennis

BOSTON, July 25.—Johnny Wilson, middleweight champion, and Marty Killilea, his manager, have been reinstated by the Massachusetts boxing commission.

Wilson and his manager were suspended in Massachusetts January 5 following the action of the New York Boxing commission in suspending the two when Wilson refused to meet Harry Greb of Pittsburgh in New York after Killilea had signed a contract for the bout. Killilea said he signed the contract in order to obtain Wilson's share of the proceeds of the Bryan Downey-Wilson fight last Labor Day in Jersey City.

At the hearing before the Massachusetts Boxing commission Killilea presented the champion's side of the case, maintaining that the contract to meet Greb was illegal because it was signed under duress and violated the rules of the New York Boxing commission in certain phrases concerning the posting of a guarantee.

As soon as the commission's decision was announced Wilson issued a challenge to Greb for a bout in this state.

Begin New Series

NEW YORK, July 25—Virtually tied for the leads in the National league race, the New York Giants and the St. Louis Cards will begin a five-game series at the Polo grounds today, a series that may determine the league pacemakers for some time to come. The Giants are not in the best of condition for the game.

Seek Strongest Team

NEW YORK, July 25.—The Davis Cup committee, in its efforts to select the strongest doubles combination for the American team, has arranged special matches between the two leading pairs. William T. Tilden, II, and Vincent Richards, National champion, and R. Norris Williams, II, and Watson M. Washburn, the Davis Cup team last year. These teams will meet July 29 and 30.

Mrs. Bundy to Play

NEW YORK, July 25.—Mrs. May Sutton, former world's champion woman tennis player, will make her first appearance in tournament play in the east today in preparation for the national championships at Forest Hills, N. Y., August 14.

Tagging All Bases

The Giants lead the National league procession by the gossamer thread of mere circumstance. Their advantage over the Cards was cut to less than two per cent points as the result of breaking even with the Pirates, 3 to 2, and 11 to 4. The Pittsburg entry came home in front in the first game, but Nehf scored his twelfth straight victory over the Pirates in the second.

Clarence Walker bobbed up with his 24th homer of the season in the midst of the Athletics, 4 to 2 victory over the Senators. The blow came at the expense of Erickson in the third inning. Facing Brett Hart in the seventh, Walker was jobbed out of Number 25 when a bleacherite pushed the ball out of the stands.

The Indians maintained a running bombardment of Faber's delivery and beat the White Sox, 5 to 2. Any chance the Sox had of pulling out a decision over Coveleskie was ruined by Speaker, who made a diving catch of Hooper's line drive and doubled Collins off first base.

Champ Bike Rider to Retire From Track

NEWARK, N. J., July 25.—Frankie Kramer, for many years American bike rider and for twenty-seven years a devotee of the sport, announced suddenly today that he will retire from the track at once. Kramer pedalled his way to victory for the last time Sunday in the velodrome here before 15,000 fans.

The veteran cyclist has won the American championship eighteen times and the world's championship once. The latter was won in England in 1912. He has amassed a fortune. His retirement at the age of 42 is based on his fear of the strain of further training and conditioning on his physical welfare.

Mrs. Molla Mallory Enters Tennis Meet

HARRISON, N. Y., July 25.—Mrs. Molla B. Mallory, national woman's tennis champion, will make her first appearance on the courts since her return from Wimbledon in the New York state championship for women, in which play started yesterday. Fifty-one players are entered, besides Mrs. Mallory.

Miss Mary K. Browne of California, who won the title last year, is not entered.

Knee-Length Skirts In Pharaoh's Time

PARIS—That Fashion is as old as humanity has once more been proved by some recent discoveries made in Egypt.

In the time of the Pharaohs the battle of the skirts was as hotly fought as in the present day. Charming statuettes of Egyptian women lately sold at a great sale show skirts of knee-length and others that sweep the ground. One is a draped model caught on the hip by a large buckle ornament. Another was a scarf forming the belt, with ends flying and terminating in large tassels, a model which one might easily believe come from the Rue de Paix this season. After forty centuries of discussions and differences of opinion, the question of the length of the skirt is just about where it always was.

A foodpad arrested in Buenos Aires must travel over a "Via Dolorosa" of forty-six stations. This is done to give the police of all sections an opportunity of making the man's acquaintance.

Sport High Spots

That Coach Joseph Pipal of Occidental college expects to continue where he left off last season in track and field events at the Eagle Rock institution was evidenced yesterday by the announcement that the "Timber Wolf" had succeeded in signing Charles P. Erdman, former Princeton star, as assistant track coach. Erdman, who was captain of the Princeton track team both in 1920 and in 1921, was recognized as one of the premier hurdlers in eastern collegiate ranks during that time. His time for the low sticks has been clocked at 24 2-5 seconds and 15 1-5 seconds for the high barriers.

With the announcement that Justin Fitzgerald, left fielder of the Sacramento baseball team, has been granted a release at his own request the Pacific Coast league loses one of the most picturesque and best liked "landmarks" since the death of Happy Hogan. "Fitz," as he is known to thousands of bleacherites all over the circuit, has been managing the Solons several weeks during the injury of Manager Charley Pick.

Fitzgerald has gone to Palo Alto, where he plans to establish himself in business.

Local golf enthusiasts are looking forward with much interest to the opening of the Sunset Canyon country club course, which is scheduled for October 1. The links, which are located just south of the clubhouse between here and Burbank, are claimed by many as being the sportiest course in southern California. But nine holes are being prepared at the present time. Many Glendalians hold memberships in the club, the organization of which was started several years ago.

On Friday night of this week southern California boxing fans will have another chance to see Young Brown, who last week flattened Danny Kramer in three of their four rounds, when the dashing Mexican is scheduled to mix with Benny Vierra in the main event at the Hollywood stadium. The semi-windup will see Dick Griffin and Ad Roubidoux battling, while the preliminaries will include matches between the following: Jim Conley vs. Battling Lee, Bert Lynch vs. Young Sol, George Rivers vs. Bus Garber, Charlie Sullivan vs. Billie Alger, Soldier Burke vs. Jim Barry.

Boy Fire Heroes to Be Given Rewards

LAFAYETTE, Ind. — William Lamb, age 14, and William Eckman, age 15, will be rewarded by the Monon Railroad company for their timely action in fighting a fire on the railroad bridge over the Wabash river, north of Lafayette, and notifying the railroad authorities of the flames.

The two boys were camping on the Wabash river and early observed a fire at the north end of the long bridge which spans the Wabash river. With buckets of water they partly extinguished the flames and then ran to the pumping station of the railroad company and gave the alarm.

BIG LEAGUE BALL PROVES MIGHTY EXPENSIVE

Case of Johnny Mitchell Is Graphic Illustration of Old Story

Baseball as it is conducted today in the big leagues is a mighty expensive affair. It requires a huge investment, and the returns of the game are well illustrated by the extravagances to which club owners go during the course of conducting the affairs of their clubs, particularly those figured as being able to make a fight for the pennant in their respective leagues. There has been this year a deal to talk about high prices paid for minor league stars, but perhaps an even better illustration of the cost of big league clubs is contained in the wealth of material which they all carry. The Yankees are as good an example of this as any other club in the game.

At the Polo Grounds, while the Yankees were taking advantage of the day of clear weather which had somehow managed to sneak into New York, an old time follower of the game watched the Yankee substitutes cavorting between games. "I'd like to have those 'also rans' to dispose of. Or to run in a minor league race. I could make a mighty interesting little team out of them." The Yanks have rich material that is simply wearing out perfectly good seats of uniform trousers on the hard surface of the players' bench.

Cast of Johnny Mitchell

A graphic illustration in the case of the Yankees is contained in Johnny Mitchell. Last spring, when the team trained in Shreveport, Mitchell came on, widely heralded, from the Coast. Six or seven players had been sent away for his services. It was probable that he had been signed at an interesting salary, to say the least, for he came with the reputation of being close to the best shortstop on the Coast.

But Johnny was unable to beat out Peckinpaugh for the position and remained on the bench. Last season he played two or three games, spending the rest of the while on the bench. This year, with the iron Everett Scott in action, it is probable that all of his exercise will be obtained in practice. Mitchell is not a bad player. He is a big leaguer, one that could make almost any other team in the league. He is no longer a youngster as age is reckoned in the big leagues, and it appears that he will end his big league days on the bench unless Huggins uses him in some sort of a trade next winter, as it was expected he would do last year. The purchase price and nearly two years of salary have gone into two or three games of ball from Johnny Mitchell.

Has Repaid Everything

Mike McNally has repaid everything spent on him, particularly last year, when he filled in so admirably for Frank Baker. This year he is doing the same thing. But there are Chick Fewster, not a bad player at all; Norman McMillan, last season one of the best all-round players in the International League; Elmer Miller, a regular of last year; Freddy Hoffman, and Al De Vorner, catchers; George Murray and Lefty O'Doud as pitchers—the nucleus of a very interesting little team.

McMillan could play at third, Mitchell at short, Hoffman or De Vormer behind the bat, Fewster, Miller and O'Doud in the outfield, and George Murray pitching. Either Frank Baker or McNally could also be used in the infield, which would leave just one position, first base, unfilled. The Yanks not only carry a complete team about with them, but capable substitutes for every position on that team save only first base, and Mike McNally has done that without disaster.

Richards Again

For the first time since he became a real top-liner at tennis, officials of the United States Lawn Tennis Association may give Vincent Richards the elevated eyebrow in their selection of a team to defend the Davis Cup. They have a great plenty of championship material in Tilden, Johnston, Williams and Washburn, members of the 1921 team, and, according to judicious rumor are not disposed to have the young man from Yonkers beat anyone out of a job without showing due cause.

Richards is a marvey for a boy of his years, but most of us allow his extreme youth to blind us to his limitations. He doesn't figure seriously with Tilden or Johnston as a singles player; neither can he be expected to do other than run second to Williams the way the latter is going now.

Seemingly, Richards' only hope is to break into the big series via his doubles partnership with Tilden. There are two elements operating against this chance, to-wit:

First, that officials are disinclined to overburden Tilden with participation in the doubles, in addition to the two singles matches he must play.

Second, the very pertinent fact that Williams and Washburn have been playing sounder tennis than the Tilden-Richards team.

Age: The Leveler

Going into the final round at Toledo in 1920, Harry Vardon, aged 50 or thereabouts, topped the field for the national open golf title by a matter of four strokes. He seemed to have the championship tucked away in his vest pocket.

This belief was strengthened when Vardon shot the next nine holes in or around par. Then the denouement.

With only nine holes to go, Age stalked in and tapped Harry Vardon on the shoulder. Playing the long twelfth into a strong wind, Vardon needed six strokes to reach the green, a three-shot performance under ordinary circumstances. He had spoken his little piece. He was through.

A few moments later—at the fourteenth, if we remember correctly—Vardon was short with a two-foot putt. Then the gallery left him to follow younger and more optimistic causes.

News item: With an excellent chance to tie or better Gene Sarazen's total of 288, John Black, a grandfather at 54, hooked out of bounds off the seventy-first tee at Skokie.

All is not gold that glitters, according to popular theory. Furthermore, all is not beer that bubbles.

Baseball Landmarks Passing

Age in baseball is even more of a tragedy. The passing of each season sees some notable veteran hit the trail marked "This way out," and as a general thing little is thought of it.

The present year will be no exception. It probably marks the last of Tris Speaker, Frank Baker, Larry Gardner and Clyde Milan as active players, and one cannot see them pass without regret that a mere matter of a few years can rob baseball of its best.

SPORTS CHATTER

Cononado Tent City has a good cause for kicking at the treatment meted out to it regarding the awarding of the outdoor Pacific coast swimming championships. The official sanction for these events was refused by one of the A. A. U. associations on the ground that swimmers in a previous meet were not given medals claimed to have been won. On investigation it was found the medals complained about were for a third place in a relay race, and such an award of medals never has been made in any meet for a relay race. Now it is possible the meet will be awarded to Coronado Tent City. In any event the A. A. U. governing board in New York realizing the facilities of the beach for holding swimming events and knowing the thorough business like fashion Coronado handles championship races has awarded Coronado Tent City the National men's senior high diving championships August 13 and the national men's senior mile swim on August 27.

The Grand American handicap trap shoot to be held at Atlanta, Ga., starting August 24 will have entrants from all over the country. The Pacific slope states for years past has depended on that great Frank Troeh and few other coast men have entered. This year, however, innumerable men from the far west have decided to enter. Included in the list are Fred Blair, California state champion, W. W. Warren, former champion, Heine Pfurman of Los Angeles, Tony Prior and Paul Burns, all high class shots at the clay pigeons.

Charlie Paddock is coming in for a lot of adverse criticism all over the country for his changeable mnid. Further than that many experts are of the opinion that the great sprinter is afraid to get into honest to goodness competition with the best sprinters of the country. His many statements of retirement, then his appearance on the track in insignificant meets is not being met with favor. It is further pointed out that Paddock's various records for the most part have been made in specially arranged events in which no stars competed against him. "It is but another of the many caprices of the speedy Californian," says one well known writer, "where sprinting in the east is concerned."

Still another writer says: "In this age of tempermental stars one may expect most anything, however, and we should learn to accept any outbursts without surprise."

Jack Cody, one of the best swimming coaches in the country and a real authority on aquatics makes the suggestion that as swimming records are broken so often, and no one has an authentic list of records, the A. A. U. should, say every three months, publish an official list of new records and distribute this list to the various A. A. U. branches. An admirable suggestion that should be worked out in some way.

The WORLD OVER

By Franklin B. Morse
Pacific Sports Service

Practical experience has shown that a tremendous majority of those who enter in both the open and amateur golf championships, have not the slightest chance of winning the trophy, and the majority of these are practically a certainty as being unable to survive the qualifying round.

Discussion to the effect that this padding of the entries by golfers who do so merely for the "experience" be done away with by means of sectional or zonal elimination contests of a preliminary nature is meeting with the serious consideration of golfers all over the country. Golfers who are able to qualify are made to go through a lot of play totally unnecessary, all of which is wearying. In all conscience, the players have a long enough grind to go through without playing against men who are there just to say they played in the open or national amateur championship tourney.

There were practically 400 entrants this year and if we allow 50 players of that lot a chance at the winning of the title, the proportion would be a generous one. It is natural to assume that with the passing of the years, and with the growth of the game, these entries will multiply so that eventually it will be beyond all reason.

Now is the time to take the bull by the horns and remedy a useless feature of the championships. It will be easier to do so now than later on, and in the meantime, players who stand a chance of gaining the title will not be worn out by having to do a lot of totally unnecessary playing.

There are certain arbitrary rules that must be laid down for the best interests of any tournament. As an example of this might be cited the "weeding" of players in many of the tennis tournaments in order to avert one of two good players, each capable of winning the title, meeting long before the finals are reached. In this way the two best players become the finalists instead of having some mediocre player survive and, as a final attraction, deprive the title match of all interest.

The plan proposed of dividing the country into zones, each zone to have its preliminary contests to select a certain quota of its best players is an eminently fair one, and seems an excellent solution of the problem. The United States Golf association could assume quite as much control over the playing of these zonal contests as it now has over the play, and the same rules of competition applied exactly all over the country.

LOCAL PEOPLE ON TOUR OF BEACHES

C. H. Ambrosch and Friends Visit Palos Verde and Other Districts

"I think it will take many millions to improve the property," remarked C. H. Ambrosch, proprietor of the Glendale Monument Works at 1727 South Brand boulevard, yesterday in regard to the Palos Verde Estate.

Mr. Ambrosch agreed, however, that some of the lots on the bluff will be very desirable when the terracing and landscape gardening have been completed. He stated that the road along the bluff is very rough at present and used by few machines.

Mr. and Mrs. Ambrosch of 644 North Pacific avenue were accompanied by their two sons, Harold and Richard. Other members of the party were Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Wager and their daughter, Miss Irma Wager, of Spokane, Wash., who are spending a few months in Southern California.

The party passed through every beach between Long Beach and Santa Monica.

VISIT CATALINA ISLAND

Mr. and Mrs. R. R. McBurney of 1408 South San Fernando road were members of a party of Glendale folk who went to Catalina Sunday. They reported a delightful time. Mrs. McBurney enjoyed the trip on the glass bottom boat the most while Mr. Burney got more of a thrill from the dash in the "speed boat" which went at a clip of fifty-five miles an hour. They made the trip over in the Avalon and came back in the Cabrillo.

As this new establishment is fully equipped, Auctioneer Jack Harrison of 1508 South San Fernando has been given instructions to wield the hammer over their present stock of mechanics' tools and garage apparatus.

The auction will take place Thursday morning at 10 o'clock unless arrangements are made before that time to sell the lease and stock intact.

J. H. Sherman has had a number of years of experience in battery work and is recognized as an expert battery man. OLDEST LIVING THING

The oldest living thing in the world is thought to be the famous cypress in the churchyard of the Village of Santa Maria del Tule, a few miles from Mexico City, says the Floral Magazine. Experts have estimated its age as between five and six thousand years. It is said to have been a stripling 200 years old when Cheops built the great pyramid. In 1903 the tree was measured and found to be 126 feet in circumference.

USES CHURCH HYMN TUNES AS BATTLE LURE FOR CHINA ARMY

CHRISTIAN CHIEF URGES ON TROOPS

Revises Words to Inspire Action Among Soldiers Entering Battle

By EDNA LEE BOOKER
For International News Service.

PAOTINGFU, China, July 25—A heavy rumbling and muttering of thunder, a lowering of war clouds, a vidid, sudden flash of lightning, and civil war broke in China in the vicinity of Peking and Tientsin. War of a type heretofore unknown in China raged along a battlefront 150 miles long, with fast-moving kaleidoscopic action.

Opera bouffe tactics—time out for tea, for rice, for rain, which are characteristic of Chinese wars—were unknown. Big guns boomed without ceasing; the constant crack of the rifle and the fire of the machine gun became a deadly monotony, an ever-growing number of dead and wounded fell on the battlefields.

The battle of Changhsintien Ridge (some twelve miles south of Peking), which raged night and day for five terrible days, is as famous in China as the fighting on the Meuse, in Chateau-Thiery and across "No Man's Land," in France.

In the hills around Changhsintien Chang-tso-lin embedded his guns, dug his trenches, with their miles of barbed wire, and placed his thousands of well-equipped soldiers in the most advantageous positions. From the plains below General Wu Pei-fu stormed what seemed to be a stone wall of death.

From the hills batteries of six-inch guns blazed, dropping tons upon tons of shrapnel into the ranks of the enemy. In return Wu Fei-fu's machine guns gave back shot for shot. High explosive shells whizzed overhead, singing a cruel song of death.

Coolies, wearing the Red Cross emblem, carried the wounded on bamboo stretchers to the first aid field stations. The first day of battle 800 were reported dead at Wu's headquarters. Still neither side yielded. Trains, camel cavalcades, donkey carts brought supplies and reinforcements. It was the arrival of General Feng Yu-hsiang's soldiers which turned the tide in favor of Wu Pei-fu.

Known as "the never-defeated Christian bridge," and wearing armbands bearing the inscription, "For God and country—kill and spare not!" the men began a rear flank movement. With orders from General Feng, the famous Christian general of China, "Shoot to kill! If you break your gun use the butt! if you break the butt use your knives; if you lose your knives use your fists; if your fists become bleeding and torn, bite!" the men went forth to win.

Singing, "Hark! the Herald Angels Sing!" and "Bringing in the Sheaves," the invincibles carried all before them and forced the Mukden hordes to abandon their hills and retreat.

"Hark! the Herald Angels Sing!" was my idea of no battle hymn, and I inquired as to the reason of its popularity. It seems that on Sunday the famous old hymn is sung as in America and Europe, but on weekdays—when the soldiers are on military duty—different words are set to the music, and it is known as "The Ammunition Hymn."

The song which the soldiers charged into battle singing goes something like this:

"Hark! the Herald angels sing!
Pick your man and shoot to kill!
For your country and your God
Fight until the battle's won!
Rouse your blood lust—
Rouse your blood lust!
Kill and spare not in the fray!"

"Bringing in the Sheaves" also has a week-day version, which urges the soldiers to be saving of ammunition, to follow without question the commands of the leaders, to look for the white of the enemy's eye, to take careful aim and fire!

General Feng.

Wu Pei-fu accomplished a remarkable victory, for, with a loss of approximately 2500 men of his own by wounds and death, he was able to scatter, envelop and rout more than 50,000 troops. Besides this, he seized 30,000 rifles, 150 field pieces, 300 machine guns, one million rounds of rifle ammunition, 50,000 rounds of artillery ammunition and 3000 horses.

RETURN TRIP TO CHICAGO

Dr. and Mrs. J. B. Cruise, who have been spending a month at 1514 Gardena avenue with Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Reichenbach, are leaving today to return to Chicago. They like southern California so well, however, that they expect to return in the near future to remain permanently.

BOUQUET CANYON PICNIC

A party of picnickers from this vicinity who spent Sunday in Bouquet canyon included Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Murphy and their three children, Harry, Dorothy and Evelyn of 1529½ South San Fernando road; Mr. and Mrs. James Murphy, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Gink and Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Dalrymple all of Los Angeles.

FROM NATIONAL CITY

Mr. and Mrs. David Strahl of National City are guests this week of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Danner at 1630 Gardena avenue. Mr. Danner is proprietor of the Reliable Meat Market at 1503 South San Fernando road. Mr. Strahl says that he knew where to come to get good meat.

Juanita Miller Has Divorce Suit on File

OAKLAND, July 25.—The love of Juanita Miller, beautiful daughter of the late Joaquin Miller, "poet of the Sierras," has run its prismatic gamut and wound up in deep-hued tones of diverse blues.

Juanita today had on file a suit for divorce against Juan Miller, otherwise John Reavis, her "lily white" love, ending the romance which ran its colorful course amid the primeval surroundings of Juanita's home on the "heights" where her father wrote his famous verses and where his daughter follows in his footsteps as a poetess and song writer.

Juan leaped into Juanita's young life through a bed of yellow and crimson tulips at the break of dawn years ago. The world war separated them, but Juan came back and they were wed as the cycle of her colorful romance passed from lily white stage to the crimson flood of realization of her life dreams.

With the full December moon beaming down the ceremony was carried out amid the trees on the "heights" in 1920. Ancient Indian customs prevailed. Juanita was clad in a dress which she described as having been woven from moonbeams, caught with pearls of dew. Juan wore the wild animal habilaments of his cave man ancestors. Sprightly maidens danced in the moonlight while Indian tom-toms boomed an accompaniment. Guests carried tiny lights emblematic of their color status in Juanita's scale.

But prosaic daily life took the "color" out of the romance. Juanita alleged that Juan was timorous toward his share of the household duties. A little later an old-fashioned "scrap" is said to have marred their marital bliss. In the divorce action on file today Juanita alleges desertion. Her husband, she says, left her July 1, 1921, seven months after their marriage.

Senator Candidate Visitor In Glendale

A. Burlingame Johnson of Pasadena, Republican candidate in the August primaries for state senator from the thirty-sixth district, was in Glendale today for a conference with members of the local Republican organization. The nucleus of plans for the campaign were formed, it is understood.

"I have served one year in the legislature," stated Mr. Johnson, "and was named as prominent among those fighting against any increase in taxation, and trying to keep down the governmental expenses.

"For that reason," he said, "I have been endorsed by the business element of the community, which has a special desire to put a business man, rather than a politician, into the office."

Mr. Johnson has been a newspaperman, both owner and editor, was in the United States service in China and the Philippines, was active in the founding and support of an Anglo-Chinese college in China, and has been long and actively interested in the lumber business, it is stated.

Asked as to his platform, other than that of keeping down taxation, Mr. Johnson replied;

"Our state's interests are varied. Prosperity and good government are not best promoted by advocates of a single idea. The most useful legislators have always been those with the best grasp of general conditions and with a broad vision of the future which no special interests could pervert. To the best of my ability I shall, as in the past, strive to meet this ideal."

Klan Prominent In Texas Primary Fight

DALLAS, Texas, July 21.—With Ku Klux Klan and anti-Klan affiliations playing a huge facter in one of the most bitterly contested primary campaigns ever held in the state of Texas, closing campaign speeches were made by most of the candidates at various points today. Voting in the primary takes place tomorrow.

While Klan sentiment against U. S. Senator Charles A. Culberson, who is seeking to succeed himself, has not been manifested to a marked degree, he has declared himself as opposed to the Klan.

The principal candidates for the senatorial nomination besides Culberson are Cullen F. Thomas, an outstanding prohibitionist; Earl B. Mayfield, president state railroad commission; ex-Governor James E. Ferguson, supporter of organized labor, also favorable to the amending of the Volstead law to permit sale of beer and light wines; Clarence B. Ousley, assistant secretary of agriculture at Washington during the Wilson administration, and R. L. Henry, an ex-congressman.

Henry, all during his campaign, has openly announced that he is a member of the Ku Klux Klan and says he believes a member of the Klan should sit in the United States Senate.

For the gubernatorial nomination. Governor Pat M. Neff is seeking re-election and is opposed by Fred B. Rogers, running on a farm labor union platform; Harry T. Warner, for years a prominent newspaper editor, who entered the race late, and W. W. King, a farmer, who is running "on his own."

Political wiseacres today predict that unless some candidate should receive an unlooked for majority of votes cast in Saturday's primary, the second primary on August 26 will see Senator Culberson fighting it out with Commissioner Mayfield and Governor Neff opposed by Fred S.

Former Empress Zita Hard Up Financially

BERLIN — Former Empress Zita of Austria is hard up. Her husband's life insurance amounts to about five million Austrian Kronen, payable between 1932-33. This is hardly more than 6000 French francs.

Zita possesses about one million kronen, or 1200 francs, which are mostly invested in Austrian war loans.

There are nearly 60,000 licensed garages in the United States.

ORPHEUM ACT ON PROGRAM AT T. D. & L. TONIGHT

Special Features Will Be Offered to Patrons by Manager Ralph Allan

A Parisian comedy drama and Richard Barthelmess is his widely-lauded photodrama, "Sonny," will be the entertaining features offered at the T. D. and L. theatre beginning this evening.

When Ralph Allan announces "vaudeville" presentations at his theatre it means the highest type of specialty entertainment, for the only acts he is staging from time to time are real genuine Orpheum circuit acts. He recently presented the "Classical-Jazz Revue," now playing on the Orpheum in San Francisco and next booked for Los Angeles.

Act From Orpheum

The Orpheum act to be introduced tonight at 8:30 o'clock will be the Parisian comedy drama, "Oh! Frenchy," produced by James Dayton, dramatist of note, and featuring Mademoiselle Liane Salvor, star of Zaza and Camille of the Champs Elysees theatre, Paris, and of the American Orpheum circuit. She is supported by a most talented cast, including Wescott Clarke of the "Within the Law" cast; Eugene Weber, formerly Henrietta Crosman's leading man; Bruce Stirling of English Reportor company, and Fannie Warden, well known stage and screen player.

Then there is the film feature, "Sonny," and those who remember "Tol'able David" will enjoy his "Sonny," which has just finished its tremendous first showing in Los Angeles. In addition there will be a comedy and a good comedy, too.

The admission prices remain unchanged, the regular every day charges being the total fare.

Make Huge Effort for Mine Reopening

WASHINGTON, Pa., July 25.—Faced by federal control of the mines, operators in the union districts of southwestern Pennsylvania today redoubled efforts to reopen the strike-bound mines under the Harding plan of military protection and the shield of the American flag.

With the first day of attempted reopening fruitless, plans were speeded, following a conference of operators and state and county peace officers, to augment the armed forces sprinkled over a wide area in this section, as an added incentive for men to go to work.

Strikebreakers by the carload are expected to be imported into the fields today or tomorrow. Some already have been brought in but in no appreciable numbers.

Troop movements from regimental headquarters at Cokeburg to mining property at which operators will pool their efforts in the hope of meeting with the Harding demand that coal be mined, were under way today.

The stars and stripes is flying from practically every mine tipple in the Pittsburg district. It is flung to the breeze over each of the miners' tent colonies, too. One of the biggest colonies is at Filbert, in Fayette county, where close to one hundred miners' families are housed in twenty tents.

Activities of striking miners have led to injunctions restraining them from picketing the mines and interfering with resumption of work. In retaliation the miners' union has secured an injunction against the mine guards trespassing on miners' property at the Youngstown Sheet & Tube company's workings at Hemacolin, Green county.

Debt Funding Board Meets on Thursday

WASHINGTON, July 25.—The American debt funding commission will meet on Thursday to begin active negotiations for the adjustment of the French government's debt of $3,500,000,000 to the United States, Secretary of the Treasury Mellon announced. Mellon said financial and trade data have been placed before the commission by Jean Parmentier, representing France.

Montecito Quite Reserved
Pismo Famed for Clams
Paso Robles is Progressive

By Gil A. Cowan

Paso Robles, Monday Morning.

GOOD MORNING, everybody. How are you this afternoon? While this is being written you likely have been telling the office force your sad experiences over the week-end, or doing up the family wash. So let me interrupt to tell you that this vacation stuff is great.

The first leg on a motor tour of the state ended here last night, almost on the last legs, too, if any more roads like that at Cuesta pass are encountered. They are paving the stretch and only have the grade completed. The motorist goes over the top with little or nothing to go on. At night it was second gear and everybody who knew the name of the hill dubbed it "Cussed a pass."

Outside of that the trip, so far, has been one continuous round of curves, pleasure and scenery, with comparatively few cars on the road, although a great number of tourists seem southland bound.

Santa Barbara—the Mission City—was the first stop and they have some good eating houses there as well as an incomparable beach. Both there and at the bathhouse everybody seemed to be enjoying a Sunday swim.

As a "watering place" Santa Barbara is unique in its lack of entertainment, but there is plenty for the eyes to feast upon. And they do let the band play.

Montecito, where the millionaires and heiresses reside, looks like the reserved section of a theatre—half empty, in the summer months. No one would deny it is a nice place to rest, but Glendale has more life than Santa Barbara.

Ventura, a dreamy old city of Spanish and American types, lolls around the beautiful ocean, but there is little to interest the traveler. To say that you have been in that port suffices. So on you ramble along miles and miles of coast line to Pismo, famous for its clams.

Santa Maria punctuates the trip to Pismo, but all good Santa Marians were at Pismo Beach, it would seem, from the number of machines met on the road—and off.

After you get by the beach the highway winds through the hills into San Luis Obispo. There's quite a regular town with good accommodations for the traveler and like every other place appears prosperous.

It could not be determined during the dinner hour spent in San Luis what supports it, but probably Pismo beach does that, from the looks of things. Beans and fruit are the principal products of this section of California, but a whole mountain of grain was being harvested, which is some stunt.

An eastern person who thinks of Kansas and its plains of rolling wheat fields ought to see California's mountains of grain!

Atascadero was passed up in the evening, it being a well-lighted new town with several prominent buildings and lots of lots. It is similar to a great subdivision.

Three or four miles out of the town we picked up a fellow who had run out of gasoline—a good lesson that it pays to fill up the tank at every stop. We also warned him not to try "Cussed a Pass" on Sunday night. It would spoil an otherwise perfect day.

Paso Robles is a bang up modern town, growing like Glendale, and it has three or four good hotels, including a hot springs joint. The house we stopped at boasted new springs, having just opened a big annex.

The air here is dry, the land fertile and the people happy, which is about all anyone might ask for. But more of California must be crowded into a week and from day to day, Uncle Sam's postal service permitting, you shall travel with me for a week or so. Selah!

Find Mystery Hat In Mrs. Meadows' Auto

LOS ANGELES, July 25.—Added to the many mysterious phases of the "hammer murder" case was today the mystery of a hat.

It is a black taffeta hat—a hat spotted with blood—presumably the blood of Mrs. Albert A. Meadows, on a charge of whose murder Mrs. Clara Phillips is in the county jail awaiting trial.

The hat was found in the back of Mrs. Meadows' automobile—the car in which she drove to the place on Montecito drive where she was beaten to death with a hammer on July 12, and in which, according to the testimony of Mrs. Peggy Caffee, eye-witness of the crime, Mrs. Phillips drove away after having slain the woman she believed her rival for the affections of her husband, Armour L. Phillips.

The question arose today as to which of the three women—Mrs. Phillips, Mrs. Caffee or Mrs. Meadows—did the hat belong.

Following on the heels of an anonymous note signed "A Texas neighbor," that said Mrs. Phillips, while living in Texas, ran away with a piano player, leaving her husband, another bit of information that reached the district attorney's office charged that she also ran way with a gambler from Houston.

JOINT RECEPTION TO BE GIVEN TO HIGH OFFICER

Masonic Organizations Make Plans to Hold Welcome for Grand Master

Arrangements are being perfected for the joint reception and celebration of the Masonic lodges of Eagle Rock, Burbank, San Fernando and Van Nuys with the local Unity lodge No. 368 of that order, to be held in Glendale on Tuesday night, August 8.

On that night, at 8 o'clock members of all these lodges will assemble at the Glendale Masonic temple on South Brand boulevard for a reception to be given in honor of Samuel E. Burke, grand master of the Masonic organization in the state of California.

Dwight W. Stephenson, worshipful master of the Glendale lodge, promises that this will be one of the largest and most gorgeous Masonic social affairs in the history of Glendale. The entire temple is to be decorated, it is understood, and made ready to show to Grand Master Burke that no lodge is ahead of those in this vicinity when it comes to welcoming the head of the state organization.

Committee Is Busy

A committee is hard at work, it is stated, arranging a program of high-class entertainment, while others are looking after refreshments, decorations and music.

Nothing is to be left undone, it is declared, to make this an affair which will be long remembered by Masons of both this section and of the entire state as a reception befitting the importance of the communities to be represented.

Julio Trejo, Aged 70, Hurt In Auto Crash

Julio Trejo of 219 South Verdugo Road was injured about 5:45 o'clock this morning when the wagon in which he was riding north on Verdugo Road was upset by a Ford sedan driven by F. H. Freytag of 2015 El Rito avenue and going south on Verdugo Road. Mr. Freytag asserts that the collision was due to a loose cord from the wagon which became tangled up in one of the front wheels of the automobile and interfered with the steering. Mr. Trejo, who is about 70 years old, was taken to his cabin nearby and a doctor summoned. It was feared that he had a broken wrist and a sprained ankle.

GEORGE ARLISS IN RULING PASSION AT GLENDALE

After twenty years of successful presentation on the stage of roles portraying the cynic, the satirist, the crafty, designing schemer and simlar roles, George Arliss, probably the most widely known and most popular character actor in this country, has given to the public something new and entirely different from anything he has heretofore attempted.

This new role comes in the photoplay, "The Ruling Passion," a comedy drama, second of the Arliss film productions of United Artists corporation, which has been announced by the management of the Glendale theatre for tonight, Wednesday and Thursday.

"The Ruling Passion" is based on the short story, "Idle Hands," by Earl Derr Biggers, which appeared in the Saturday Evening Post.

Business and Love

Mr. Arliss picturizes a multi-millionaire automobile manufacturer who has worked himself to the verge of a nervous breakdown and is ordered by his physician to retire to his country estate and seek relaxation. This he does, to the delight of his wife and daughter, but he soon finds that he has worked too long and too hard ever to find rest for his tired nerves in enforced idleness, so he secretly goes into a small time garage business with an almost penniless young man, who at once falls in love with the retired manufacturer's daughter.

Mr. Arliss is supported by a cast including Miss Doris Kenyon, Edward J. Burns, Ida Darling, J. W. Johnston, Ernest Hilliard, Brian Darley and Harold Waldrige.

INDIANA STATE PICNIC

The annual basket picnic of the Indiana State society, which will be attended by a number of Glendale residents, is to be held Saturday, July 29, at the picnic grounds of Exposition Park, Los Angeles. County registers will be posted throughout the grounds. An interesting program will be given at 2:30 o'clock, including an address by Cecil Wilson, president of the society, and also by the vice-president, William D. McConnell; musical numbers by Mabel Cushman Hardison, and an entertainment which is in charge of Miss Goldie B. Young and Dr. J. F. Clark.

The reward for a good deed is in the keen satisfaction of doing it.

Pre-War Styles Are Revived In England

LONDON—This is a great sartorial summer for London.

The war is over and pre-war summer styles are being revived. This doesn't mean that Londoners are casting aside their heavy tweeds and homespuns and donning flannels and silks. Indeed not. London dandies signify summer by removing their fine silk top hats and substituting a nice gray top hat that is just as warm as the silk hat, and if they choose to go further they take off their heavy "spats" and put on those of heavy linen. Maybe this may satisfy the summer color scheme, but to an American it doesn't appear to bring much relief.

Straw hats are few and far between in London in summer. They are not looked upon with favor by the elite, and are regarded as the headgear of clerks and such. Ambassador George Harvey has apparently an excellent sartorial mentor, for he has ditched the big Panama which he brought with him from America and is wearing one of the most English of English white top hats.

Summer styles in London do not permit of the removing of waistcoats. In fact it is regarded as very bad form if one enters the privacy of his own office and removes the waistcoat, and there are shrieks of horror for the man who removes his coat and rolls up his sleeves.

It's a hard task for an American to keep up with the summer heat and the styles in London.
